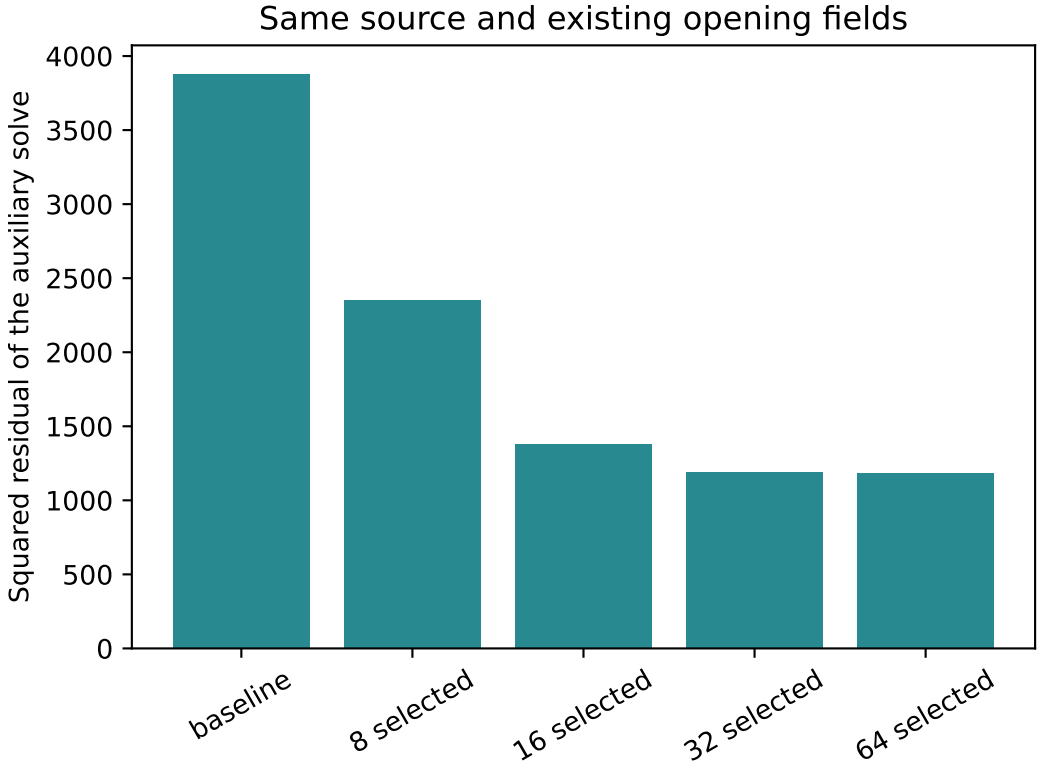
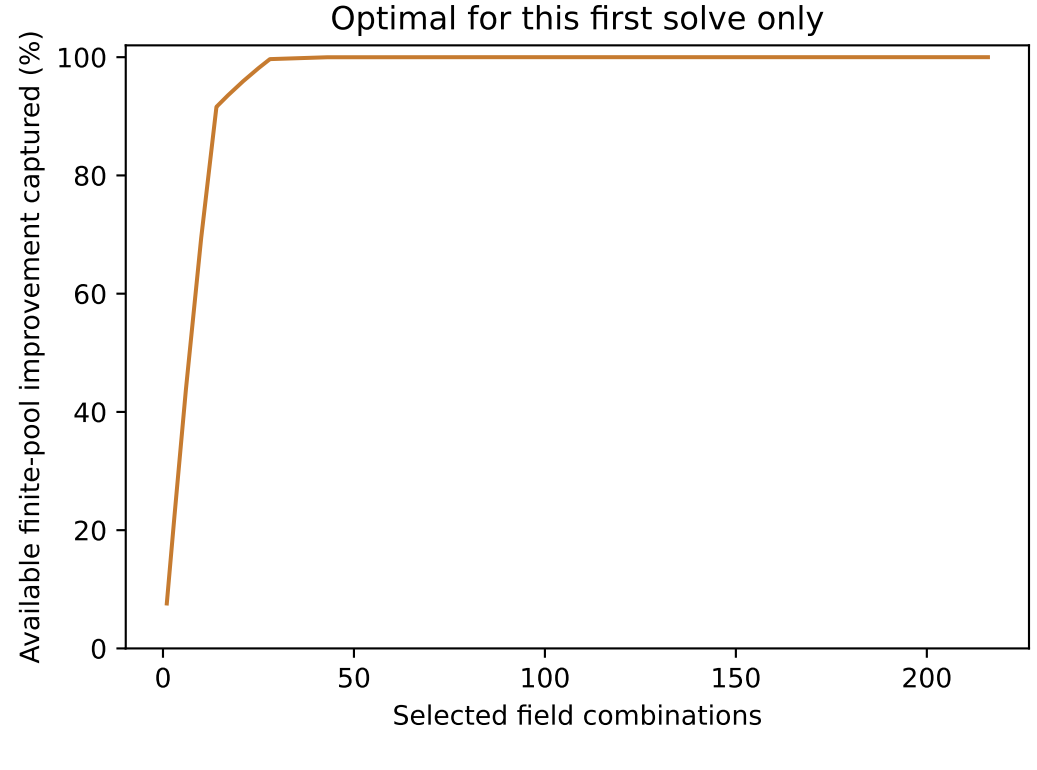
Letting the remaining residual choose the added fields





Numerical approximation of a prescribed geometry; no physical support or time passage established.