
Same physical field and one-atom target. These are upper bounds, not observed errors.
No supported opening, atomic passage or operational time shift is established.